

Terms and conditions

Who we are

Our website is: <https://www.germantaxexperts.de/>

Information, not advice

The idea of German Tax Experts (GeTEx) is to answer questions on specific tax topics.

GeTEx does not provide any advisory services, in particular no tax advice.

Expert Responses - written or otherwise - are provided by experts and are to be used by clients for general information purposes only and are not a substitute for personal judgment or specific professional legal or tax advice.

By answering questions, the experts do not enter into any professional relationships with the users of the website.

Disclaimer

Although GeTEx endeavors to only allow highly qualified experts on the website, GeTEx and the website's use of the term "expert" is intended only to describe users of the website answering questions on the website and not to denote any specific guarantee level of expertise.

You acknowledge and agree that GeTEx, as a pure platform provider enabling customers to ask questions and experts to answer those questions, is not responsible for any loss or damage arising from your reliance on information contained in Contributions or Leaving content, and cannot be held liable for it.

Privacy policy

By using GeTEx, you agree to the data protection declaration (Privacy policy).

Electronic communication

When you visit GeTEx or send us emails, you are communicating with us electronically and consent to receive communications from us electronically.

Communication and reviews

Experts usually respond quickly to customers' questions. If the expert asks for more information before answering your question, you should take the opportunity to provide the expert with more information so that the expert can better help you.

GeTEx does not guarantee that you will receive an Answer from an Expert or that you will be satisfied with communicating with an Expert.

If you are satisfied with the answer from our expert, it is highly appreciated to get a positive Google or ProvenExpert review. Our expert will send you an invitation link after the answer has been sent to you.